

CORELLI CELLO AND BASS STRINGS

The history of string making behind the Savarez name dates back over two centuries, to 1770, when Savarèse first embarked upon the manufacture of natural gut strings in Lyon, France. Today, Savarez has become a world leader in musical string innovation with superior research and development.

Corelli strings have the reputation for lasting longer than many other synthetic strings, and this together with their excellent, rich sound, makes them a good choice for any string player.
